this series of bibliographical references is one of the most important tools for research in modern and contemporary french literature no other bibliography represents the scholarly activities and publications of these fields as completely

a critical account of the idea of intelligence in modern french literature and thought in the late nineteenth century psychologists and philosophers became intensely interested in the possibility of quantifying measuring and evaluating intelligence and using it to separate and compare individuals disarming intelligence analyzes how this polyvalent term was consolidated and contested in competing discourses from fin de siècle psychology and philosophy to literature criticism and cultural polemics around the first world war zakir paul examines how marcel proust henri bergson paul valéry and the critics of the influential nouvelle revue française registered negotiated and subtly countered the ways intelligence was invoked across the political and aesthetic spectrum for these writers intelligence fluctuates between an individual sovereign faculty for analyzing the world and something collective accidental and contingent disarming intelligence shows how literary and critical styles questioned suspended and reimagined what intelligence could be by bringing elements of uncertainty and potentiality into its horizon the book also explores interwar political tensions from the extreme right to walter benjamin s engaged essays on contemporary french writers finally a brief coda recasts current debates about artificial intelligence by comparing them to these earlier crises of intelligence by drawing together and untangling competing conceptions of intelligence disarming intelligence exposes its mercurial but influential and urgent role in literary and cultural politics
